Gifts in Wills

Leaving a gift in your Will is one of the most powerful ways to support people affected by leukaemia, MDS or MPN. Even a small gift to Leukaemia Care can make a real difference. You will leave a lasting legacy of support for future generations.

A lasting gift of hope

Every gift helps us provide vital care and support for families coping with blood cancer. Whether through trusted information, emotional support or financial help.

Why Gifts in Wills matter

Benefits of gifts in Wills:

- Ensure patients and families continue to get support when they need it most
- Help us plan long-term services with confidence
- Allow us to reach more people who might otherwise face leukaemia alone
- Leave a real legacy for years to come

Types of gift you can leave:

- A fixed sum of money - important to us no matter the size (known as a pecuniary gift)
- A share or all of what is left of your estate once other gifts and expenses have been paid (known as a residuary gift)
- An item of value such as jewellery or shares (known as a specific gift)

Suggested wording

If you choose to leave a gift to Leukaemia Care your Will writer or solicitor may find this wording helpful:

I give to Leukaemia Care registered charity number 1183890 in England and Wales and SC049715 in Scotland of One Birch Court, Blackpole East, Worcester, WR3 8SG the sum of £_____ or all or a share of my residuary estate for its general charitable purposes. I direct that the receipt of the Treasurer or other proper officer of the charity shall be a full and sufficient discharge for my Executors.
